

Desi likes to say that she was raised in this parish. She serves it well by what all she does. She wears many hats here at Holy Trinity. Not only is she the bookkeeper, responsible for the record keeping and tracking of finances for the parish and gift shop, she is also one of our valued sacristans. Throughout the week and on alternate weekends, Desi prepares the altar before each mass and serves the preparation needs of our priests. You might also see her around helping the custodian. It is with a loving and giving heart that Desi interacts with parishioners as she goes about her many jobs.

When the bookkeeper position here at Holy Trinity became available in 2008, Desi's mother was the one who urged her to apply. After all, having worked with a local credit union and a local bank she did have the experience and background. She never dreamt she would actually get the job, but she did, and it evolved into what she would say is a dream job.

Desi loves to interact with parishioners and has "adopted" many as her proxy parents. The quiet moments in church when all is prepared are particularly special to her, she can lift up a prayer or remember her own parents, family, and friends.

The other 26 hours of Desi's day are for her husband, Esmeraldo Olmo, sons Damien, Jeaden, and daughter Eralei. The young men serve as altar servers, and Mom has hopes that her daughter will, as well.

She wants to say "Thank you to Fr. Jack, Fr. Dennis, Veronica, Ted, my family of coworkers and my parish family for all of the blessings from prayers, hugs, support, and love that you had given to me and my family during my mother's illness and passing".
