

Meet Rosalie Guerrero

From 4:30 'til just before 5:00 Mass each Saturday you will find Rosalie Guerrero leading Holy Trinity parishioners in the recitation of the Rosary. The quiet of the church serves as a backdrop for the voices in communal prayer.

Rosalie has been praying with and for her fellow parishioners for many years. From her childhood in Guam, where she delighted in joining community prayers and processions, to this time, Rosalie has been devoted to Mary and the recitation of the Rosary. Pope John Paul II's emphasis on the rosary was another influence.

Rosalie prays for the sick and for our intentions; for the work of the Holy Trinity Knights; and for all the varied communities that comprise our parish. The days of praying for the conversion of Russia are past, but Rosalie thinks a new focus-- like the elimination of wars-- is in order for our troubled world.

She appreciates the help of parishioners praying with her when they frequently take the lead on the next decade of the rosary. The Legion of Mary is a strong voice. Rosalie, a past president of our parish chapter, often hosts meetings and bible readings at her home.

The Guerrero family, John and their adult children, are longstanding parishioners. John and Rosalie have been in the area residing on their ranch since '54, which is now surrounded by suburban growth. Providing the delicious barbecued pork at Knights' dinners and lunches is a family affair. They drive well past Olympia to get the meat. Rosalie pre-seasons the meat and John roasts it outdoors. You are welcome to taste it for yourself at one of the many parish gatherings.

Beyond prayer, there is action. Rosalie sometimes picks up the flowers for the altar, and she is central to the organization of the festival in May in honor of Our Lady of Guam. This involves many phone calls, but Rosalie enjoys the opportunity to keep in touch with everyone.
